The fracture of the nose was reduced but the man refused to submit to an operation for the injury to his skull and left the hospital. Miss Bentley is still at the institution but her condition is not considered critical.

SPRAY OF APPLE TREES DUE NOW

In order to insure sound apples free from worm holes next fall, fruit growers will find it necessary to spray with lead arsenate within the next ten days or two weeks, say entomologists at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva. Earlier applications of poison in the spring or dust account for most of the codling moths but a few are bound to escape and it is the spraying of these individuals that do the damage at this season, declare the specialists.

GERMAN REDS DIDN'T REVOLT

Civil War Set For Sunday A Complete Fizzle And Nation Breathes Easier—Danger Only Averted. By Telegram to The Freeman. Berlin, July 30.—The dreaded "red" demonstrations throughout Germany were everywhere kept within the bounds by the vigorous military preparations and the pleadings of the government and today the whole nation breathed easier. But while the communists failed to precipitate a whirlwind of violence the threat of civil war is not yet removed. However, the government has made promises of relief measures to lighten the distress of the people. Only one serious outbreak was reported. One man was killed and another fatally wounded at Neumunster when an attempt was made to storm the jail. Concentrations of police and Reichswehr converted what might have been a catastrophe into a comparatively bloodless demonstration. In Berlin the communists held their meetings indoors. President Ebert and Chancellor Cuno have promised immediate government measures to relieve famine and to readjust wages. The mark still hovers at its lowest ebb and it will be some time before the nation-wide distress can be relieved.

200 FULL CASES DRIFT ASHORE

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, July 30.—"Ship ahoy" cried the residents of Long Beach, Long Island, today as they gazed seaward where a case of rye whiskey was bobbing landward upon the Atlantic tide. "Ship ahoy" cried the residents again as they made a dash for launches and dories. Two hundred cases of real rye were salvaged and there was a celebration conducted with much spirit. Cases of sardines and other eatables were also washed shoreward but were disregarded. The whiskey is believed to have come from a disabled ship off the coast. Life savers said they thought it had been jettisoned from some run runner.

George H. Davis of Marlborough and Tony Mittle, who is thought to be a resident of Johnstown, Pa., were instantly killed while walking the West Shore railroad tracks about a mile north of Marlborough about 7:45 o'clock Sunday morning when they were struck by a train. They stepped from one track to another to allow a train to pass, and in doing so stepped directly in front of another train. Their bodies were carried some distance before the train could be stopped. Coroner George Suter was summoned and learner who the men were by means of cards and letters in the pockets of their clothing. He took charge of the remains removing them to his undertaking rooms at Marlborough.

President's Trip Is Abandoned Because of His Ill Health

Must Remain at San Francisco For Present, Returning to Washington When Able—Indications Are That Heart, as Well as Stomach, Is Affected. By Telegram to The Freeman. San Francisco, Cal., July 30.—It will require at least ten days, possibly two weeks before President Harding has sufficiently recovered from his attack of intestinal disorder and exhaustion to attempt the long train journey back to Washington, members of his party said today. All plans for the presidential party were set upon this basis of calculation this morning. San Francisco, Cal., July 30.—President Warren G. Harding's illness has become so serious that he cannot, with safety, continue his tour of the states, and the possessions of the United States. This was as far as his physician would go early today in explaining his condition. This condition is sufficiently serious, however, that his entire trip has been abandoned, and a consultation of physicians was called in the presidential suite on the eighth floor of the Palace Hotel. The physicians conferred for two hours. Among those called in were a noted heart specialist and a noted stomach specialist. When the conference was concluded at 1:20 o'clock this morning the consulting doctors declined to issue any statement, or make any comment on the president's condition. The physicians promised to issue a statement at 10 o'clock this morning (coast time). The doctors participating in the consultation were: Dr. C. E. Sawyer, senior medical officer of the White House; Dr. Joel T. Boone, of the United States Navy; Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, stomach specialist, and President of Leland Stanford University; Dr. Charles M. Cooper, health specialist, and Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, who in private life is a physician. Shortly before calling the consultation of physicians Dr. Sawyer issued a statement in which he said: "New symptoms arising during the day indicate complications in the case of the president. A consultation of physicians has been called. After this consultation has been completed bulletins will be issued regularly for the information of the public." What the new symptoms were Dr. Sawyer declined to state. It was considered important, however, that Dr. Cooper, a noted heart specialist, had been called in. His presence was interpreted as meaning that the president's heart had been affected following his illness from ptomaine poisoning with which he was stricken Friday. This illness, coming after 40 days and nights of constant travel, is believed to have reduced the president to a weakened condition. The phase of the president's condition stressed in the meager comment from the medical experts was his weakness. It was pointed out that Mr. Harding has undergone a severe strain during the 40 days since he left the White House on June 20. The travel, together with the speaking and hand shaking, the effect of the crab meat poisoning, but most important, the administering of purgatives to rid his system of the poison, combined with the fact that since Friday the president has had but very light food all of which tended to weaken him. The president spent all of Sunday in bed, with a trained nurse in constant attendance. His physicians said today the president would continue to remain in bed until such time as it may be considered he has the strength to stand the long overland journey back to Washington without suffering ill effects. At 11 o'clock last night, at the time the president's physicians announced the remainder of his trip had been abandoned, the following statement was issued: "The president is deeply appreciative of the fact that the people of California and its great cities have planned a series of magnificent demonstrations in honor of his visit. He realizes the great inconvenience imposed on public authority, volunteer committees and the people in general by reason of uncertainty whether the program in which he was to have participated can be carried out. He has been particularly concerned to avoid the possibility that many thousands would travel long distances and then be disappointed. Accordingly, after full consideration of all circumstances, he has decided the statement made public that by advice of his physicians he will not attempt to carry out the program arranged for him for San Francisco. Moreover, the president is reluctantly persuaded that it will be necessary to cancel the entire California program." All plans for the continuance of the presidential tour were abandoned today, and it was announced that the president will remain in San Francisco indefinitely. This means at least four days and possibly ten days—the length of time depending entirely upon how rapidly Mr. Harding regains his strength. Whenever his physicians consider that he is strong enough to undertake the long tedious railroad journey across the hot deserts and plains of the west and middle west to the start for the White House will be made. In any event the Panama

Must Remain at San Francisco For Present, Returning to Washington When Able—Indications Are That Heart, as Well as Stomach, Is Affected.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Canal, Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands and other places which Mr. Harding had planned to visit during August are now forgotten. The decision to abandon the trip was reached shortly before midnight at a conference between Mrs. Harding, Secretary of the Interior, Doctors Boone and Sawyer, and Secretary George A. Christian, Jr. Dr. Sawyer was strongly opposed to any thought of continuing the trip, and he was strongly supported by Mrs. Harding and the others.

While it is evident that the physicians entertain fears concerning the president's heart condition, it was nevertheless his extreme weakness which was the principal reason for the drastic change in plans here. The president is very tired and the physicians did not believe that this extreme fatigue could be remedied by a 22 day trip through the tropics in August cooped up in a none too commodious naval transport.

How tired the president is, and how much strength he has lost in the strenuous days since he left Washington, was strikingly illustrated Sunday morning upon his arrival in San Francisco. He arose from his bed aboard train and walked only some 20 steps to a waiting automobile which carried him to the hotel. He walked through the lobby of the hotel, was whisked upstairs in an elevator and, thence, walked down the long corridor to his suite. When he arrived there he was painting from the exertion and threw himself on a bed—the same Warren G. Harding that only four months ago played 36 holes, equalling 10 miles, of golf on a hot, sandy course in Florida and finished comparatively fresh.

This condition of extreme weakness, however, always follows an attack of ptomaine poisoning, according to the physicians. The purgatives, the abstinence from food, alone are weakening it, it was pointed out, and in the president's case these natural results from his illness have been complicated by the already existing fatigue that comes from many days of constant travel by train, motor and boat, and the constant crowds that have been Mr. Harding's daily portion for nearly six weeks.

It is to this weakened condition that the physicians attribute his inability to "come back" quickly and to throw off the toxic and other poisonings as quickly as they had anticipated.

It was recalled today that the physicians around Woodrow Wilson often said that if Mr. Wilson had "based up" at a certain time in his strenuous traveling and working he probably would have been a well man today. As it was he refused to slacken on the pace and his historic breakdown, which oddly enough, also occurred during a swing through the west speedily followed. With the tragic Wilson example before them, the physicians around Mr. Harding quickly decided to take no chances. One of them privately characterized the abandonment of the trip and the return to the capital as an abundance of precaution.

They found in Mrs. Harding an able ally. She believes the place for a "sick man" is home, and home in this case is the White House.

Use Flowers and Ribbons on Hats

Paris Milliners Decorate Headgear With Gayest of Blossoms.

Flower-trimmed hats have come into their own kingdom again, writes a Paris fashion correspondent in the Bohème. For quite a long time back they have found exceedingly smart, but almost untried hats shown in all the exclusive Paris millinery establishments. We have grown so used to this elaborated simplicity that the elaborate trimmings which are now coming in seem extraordinary; they seem to lack elegance.

But, of course, this is only a passing phase. We shall very quickly become accustomed to large picture hats edged down with wreaths and trails of flowers. One of the most influential milliners in Paris recently told that ostrich feathers—and in fact, feathers—would be worn on hats next autumn. I am hoping that this may prove true in any literal sense, as ostrich feathers need to be treated skillfully and used with great discretion. A large picture hat heavily trimmed with feathers of the "weeping" order may always be trusted to give its wearer a top-heavy appearance, unless she happens to be exceptionally tall and regal looking.

Ribbons, wide and narrow, are playing a prominent part in present-day fashions. Some of Lucile Hamar's best hats are trimmed with long lengths of gorgeous ribbon, which pass round a high crown and tie at one side, or at the back, in a loose bow, very long ends falling over the brim and onto the shoulders. In older days such ribbons as these won the title of "sweat moi jeune homme," or "follow-me-boys." The loose ribbons flapped out in the breeze, flapping in the faces of eager admirers and encouraging them in the pursuit.

Small hats and large are trimmed with floating ribbons of this order. On the narrow brimmed cloche models narrow velvet ribbons, in two or three different colors, are often introduced. I have seen flowered ribbons four or six inches wide used on the same hats. As a rule the wider ribbons are best for large picture shapes, especially those of top outline.

Shady hats in tuscany and leghorn are trimmed with velvet ribbons in saffron blue, with a half wreath of dried flowers lying on the brim at one side and long ribbon ends falling over the shoulders. Or a tuscany cloche shape completely wreathed with cinerarias in different colors and a black lace scarf draped under the wreath and so arranged that it forms a scarf for the throat as well as a mask veil.

For morning wear the small cloche hat is still a reigning favorite. The Parisiennes are wedded to this style of hat. They literally refuse to give it up.

All the hats of this season, without exception, are drawn far down over the head, almost hiding the hair. Toppes of turban outline follow this line so closely that they cut the forehead like a bathing cap, not even a stray curl remaining visible. But it is quite correct to have kiss curls showing at the sides when this style poses becoming.

Wrapped Turban Favored. The close fitting, little cloche finds many admirers this season. The wrapped turban is also a favorite. The latter is often worn with a novelty look, suit or coat, the turban made of matching material. Such a costume was seen recently on a smart "movie" actress. Her coat was a red, white and black novelty weave affair, topped by a jaunty little matching turban.

Charming Street Dress Made of Brown Twill

Hand Work Features

Chic New Sweaters

Steadily is the sweater becoming more like a blouse because girls and women have insisted upon wearing it as such. This blouse effect is emphasized by the often elaborate collars and cuffs worn with sweaters, and now charming embroideries upon the sweater itself are adding their bit towards lifting many a sweater from the sport class to the class of garments which may be worn any time of day before 6. Two kinds of embroidery which best lend themselves to ornamenting the knitted sweater surface are cross-stitch and lazy-daisy. The former is usually in the guise of borders or bands which go entirely about the sweater at intervals. The lazy-daisy is also used in borders, but it is easy to arrange in sprays. To make the cross-stitch borders coarse canvas should be used through which to work the design, and in embroidering a sweater in any stitch great care should be taken not to stretch the knitting during the process or the design will not be attractive when the stretched material goes back to its natural shape.

Shoes of Gay Colors

Summer Fashion Note

Shoes are an interesting part of the summer wardrobe, sometimes a very colorful part. There are positively gay colors in shoes, in one tone and in combination. Straps are seen on the sandals, a band of leather, kid or satin, as the case may be, stitched across the instep. The single strap running straight up from the center of the sandals and connecting with a strap across the instep is seen again this season. The shoes are in fashion again for suit wear. In both patent leather and kid a good deal of cut-out work is seen. For women of conservative tastes the new models in two tones of gray and brown are liked. With smart white summer gowns colored shoes are worn to match accessories.

Yarn and Paper Have Part in Summer Hat

It is estimated that 8,000,000 crepe paper hats were made and worn in the United States last year. The fad continues.

The hats made, which on first thought seem impractical and foolish, follow the trend of shapes in summer millinery and are so beautiful that one wonders why only six million.

The ever colorful yarn ball is playing its part in the crepe paper hat trimmings. Yarn embroidered patterns, yarn stitched brims and yarn flowers or pompons give a substantial touch to the hat that makes it a practical millinery creation.

How to Make Negligee of One Piece of Silk

There are few negligees with greater charm than the simple one made entirely of one piece of silk, uncut save at the neck. A single piece of forget-me-not blue georgette is bound with Cleopatra blue satin ribbon on each side. The neck is cut low and similarly bound. Through slits under the arms a girdle of the same ribbon is drawn about a low waistline and tied to the right front. It will leave the desired uneven finish at the hem where it may be turned up and hand stitched or finished with ribbon.

Huge Pendants.

Pendants form a popular item of jewelry. These are becoming huge in size and are usually worn on black cord. Like earrings, there must now be a pendant for every gown. Amber, lapis and topaz are the colorings that hold sway in jewelry at present. A new offering in pendants is of old gold in the Egyptian cut with bright-colored stone settings, and is worn on a twisted chain of fine gold wire.

His Grade in Friendship.

Jimmie wanted to go to Donald's house, but mother hesitated giving permission, because Donald was a new boy in the neighborhood. Whereupon Jimmie said: "He's all right. He liked me the third best of all the boys in school."

The mid-summer garden party season is here. What costume could be more appropriate than this dainty frock of pink and white georgette, with a crown hat of fine horsehair trimmed with a band of velvet ribbon.

Dorsey Whittington, the young American pianist who made such a successful debut at his concert at Aeolian Hall last spring, will give a recital on Tuesday evening, July 3, in the League Studio Hall at Woodstock. Mr. Whittington was enthusiastically received when he played three weeks ago at the Madison Square Garden. He has pleased the critics and many of his admirers wishing to hear him play more urged his giving of this recital. The program will not be a heavy one. The first group is by Brahms and Schumann, the second is all Chopin and the third consists of lighter modern pieces.

FREED AFTER LOT OF INCONVENIENCE

S. W. 6. Police Chain Pair in Dumbell for Transporting Boats and Then Falsely to Appear Against Them.

Harry Cornell and Morsell Aldrich of Stamford, Delaware county, appeared before U. S. Commissioner Collins in Newburgh Friday afternoon on a charge of transporting intoxicating liquors in violation of the Volstead law, made by board of water supply officials from New York. Coming home from Albany with a truck load of fruit and produce one day last week they were stopped on the highway by B. W. S. police, who found three bottles containing what they alleged to be intoxicating liquors. According to the accused, they were chained together and thrown into a dungeon at Prattsville, where the officers tried to starve them into "admitting their guilt." Next morning they were held to appear before Commissioner Collins.

Both denied their guilt, saying that some other party had placed the bottles in their truck.

At the hearing Friday the officers who made the arrest were not present and after several witnesses had testified to the good character of the defendants Collins said that it was his province to return the truck to the owner, Samuel Kasloff, of Prattsville, and a federal attorney was ready for the prosecution. His witnesses, the B. W. S. police, appeared.

BACK TO THE FARM MOVEMENT A REALITY.

Men who are in close touch with conditions say that there seems to be a general tendency of the population to get back to the soil. If there is not an actual movement back to agricultural pursuits there is at least a stoppage of the exodus towards the city.

There are several explanations, all of which seem plausible, that serve to account for this change in the movements of our population. The development of hard road systems, improvements in farming machinery, and last, but of great importance, the manufacture of farm equipment for electric lights and running water service, have all served to make farm life more pleasant and profitable.

Running water on the farm, in every building, calls for only a moderate investment; and the maintenance cost is but a few cents a day. The farm water system is the greatest aid to save time, labor and money, to say nothing of health, since the farmer threw away the forked stick and shaped a plow out of iron. Running water service in the house, for the laundry, bathroom and kitchen saves the housewife a great deal of hard work. Water piped to the dairy and other farm buildings makes farm chores a quicker and easier task. A water system is also a reliable fire protection.

Such conveniences make for better and happier living. They bring city comforts to the farm, and are a powerful force in making farm life attractive, especially to young folks and competent farm labor. Recent developments in the manufacture of water systems and plumbing make it possible for even modest country homes to have, in such ways, all the comforts of a city dwelling at very moderate cost.

PLENTY OF TIMBER. NOT COUNTING HEADS

A Swede in Minnesota took out a membership in the Farm Bureau. About three months later the Department of Agriculture at Washington received a letter from him:

"I have sign up for a farm bureau. Not received it as yet. Schoolmarm she can want to board at our house and wife wants bureau for spare bedroom. For why have not sent it before? Tell me."

He received the following letter in reply: "Dear Sir: Replying to yours of recent date. We have no bureaus in Washington that we can send out at the present time. However, we have an A No. 1 Farm Bloc, and as soon as we can get to it we will have it sawed up, made into a farm bureau, and sent to you."

Y. W. C. A. CAMP OPENS AUG. 20

The present Girl Scout camp at Ideal Park, near Mount Pleasant, is to be taken over by the Young Women's Christian Association during the last two weeks in August. That is from August 20th, to September 4th. During those two weeks it will be administered by Y. W. C. A. officers and conducted entirely and absolutely as a Y. W. C. A. vacation camp.

The girls will not be expected to do anything but keep their own tent spaces in order and have a good time. The food will be plain but wholesome, abundant and good, such as will satisfy appetites whetted by the invigorating mountain air and outdoor living. Nor will the admirable motto, "Early to bed and early to rise," be overworked.

The day's program will be practically as follows:

Rising bell, 7:30 a. m.
Dip, (optional) 7:35 a. m.
Setting-up exercises.
Flag raising, (optional).
Breakfast, 8:15 a. m.
Recreation, 10 a. m.
Hiking, basketball, tennis, games.
Dinner, 12 m.
Rest hour, 2-3 p. m.
Swimming and other recreation.
3:10 p. m.
Supper, 6 p. m.
Camp-fire stunts, etc., 7:30 p. m.
Lights out, 10:15 p. m.

The cost of a vacation in this lively spot is comparatively small. The barge will be $8 a week, while the fare is 85 cents on the auto bus to Mount Pleasant and about 50 cents from the bus to the camp.

Any girl or woman, married or single, over 16 years of age will be welcome.

Applications for admission to the camp will now be received at the Y. W. C. A. office, 14 Henry street, telephone 1011, and inquiries regarding equipment, etc., addressed by letter or phone to the office will be gladly and promptly answered.

PREPARING FOR CLINTONDALE BAKE

Arrangements Being Perfected For Finest Affair in Career Of Association. Which Will Include Dancing, Radio Concert and Moving Pictures.

At Clintondale there is much activity these days, for final preparations are being rushed to ensure every detail being in readiness for the big clambake of the Fruit Growers Association scheduled for Thursday August 9. The large cold storage plant of the association is rapidly taking on a festive appearance; carpenters are rushing to get together huge tables; floors are being scraped and waxed; decorations are going up, five pits for the huge steamers are in readiness; in short, everyone is busy.

At the new offices of the association, there is a steady stream of folks buying tickets, all eager to secure the prized pasteboards.

The plans of the executive committee this year call for accommodations for seventeen hundred people. Three bakes will be served at 5, 7 and 9 o'clock. Standard time. There will be seats for almost six hundred at each bake. It is believed the changed time of the bakes will be more popular. Tickets for admission to each bake are printed in separate colors to avoid any possible confusion.

As usual there will be dancing in the large cooler rooms, a special radio concert and as an innovation this year a moving picture exhibit.

Ample provision for parking cars has been made in the association grounds, under the regulation of a detachment of state troopers.

Auto busses from adjacent cities will make special trips to Clintondale; other parties are being organized in further towns to make the trip together by auto.

Those famous chefs Covert and Burger have prepared another delectable menu including clam bouillon, special Long Island clams, bluefish, spring chicken, sweet corn, tomatoes, sweet potatoes, hot rolls, feed watermelon and coffee.

Refreshments will also be available at the dance in the cooler rooms.

Tickets can be purchased at Walter Seaman's, Highland, and Hergert's drug store, Milton, until August 6, thereafter at the association office.

Pony Was Some Buckar.

I've known some great horses in that game—there was Long Tom, Hammerhead, Old Steamboat; that last was a great old pony, 1,100 pounds of solid steel and action and a square shooter. They say he never was rode, but I know he has been rode to a standstill. They were real riders that did it though. Will James writes in Scribner's I figured that horse was part human the way he'd feel out his rider. He'd sometimes try him out on a few easy jumps just to see how he was setting, and when he'd loosen up for the last, it's safe enough to say when that last would come and the dust cleared there'd most always be a tall lean lanky how-legged cowboy picking himself up and wondering how many horses he'd seen in the last few seconds. I've seen Old Steamboat throw his man with his head up and four feet on the ground, but what happened before he got in that peaceful position was enough to jar a centipede loose—and a human's only got two legs.

The Meat of the Wheat

STARCH is the "meat" of the wheat berry. It is the great energy-producing element of the grain.

But, in order to do you any good, it must be thoroughly digested, and it is right here that such a food as Grape-Nuts renders special service.

Grape-Nuts, made from wheat and malted barley, supplies the meat of the wheat in most digestible form.

That is because in the making of Grape-Nuts a large proportion of the starch is converted into dextrins and maltose—forms into which all starch elements must be changed before they can be assimilated by the system.

Grape-Nuts not only digests easily, but also aids in the digestion of other foods.

Crisp, delicious Grape-Nuts with milk or cream is a complete food. It supplies the life-essential vitamin-B; also iron, phosphorus and other important mineral elements for nerve, tooth, bone and other body structure.

The daily use of Grape-Nuts is a form of health insurance which has demonstrated its value for more than 25 years.

"I made the same trip in a Gardner Four, and took the curves as if I was on a track. I don't know how you do it, with a car so light and fast."

Gardner engineers know why the Guaranteed Car holds the road so well; it is low center of gravity and scientific distribution of weight.

ALLEN SINGS 23 SONGS

The rapidly widening reputation of Woodstock, as an art center that includes musical artists as well as those of the pencil and brush, was enhanced on Saturday evening last, by the recital of "Folk Songs and Ballades" (Songs about "just folks" and stories in song) given by C. Baldwin Allen, baritone soloist with J. Clarendon McClure at the piano, at the League Studio Hall. The Art League had seen to it that the recital was simply but most artistically staged.

When Mr. Allen sang for the first time in Kingston last fall at our first big exposition, he charmed his hearers by the beauty of his voice; the masterly quality of his technique resulting in apparently just "Singing," and that without effort; and his sincerity which made real and vividly alive, whatever he sang. Yet those who heard him sing on Saturday evening were amazed at the development of his art in these few months.

There was the "Singing" quality in all that that word implies; there was power always under control to meet the demands of the song; there was evidence of a vivid imagination and the ability to make photographic almost in detail, the songs he sang, there was exquisite diction and tone effect, especially in some of the lovely pianissimo passages; and always sounding through the song, the real heart of a man of sincerity who was as genuine in his art as in life.

Kingston was the meeting ground of Mr. Allen and J. Clarendon McClure, accompanist (also organist of St. John's Church), and a happier musical friendship and combination could not be imagined, for Mr. McClure is an artist in his line as is Mr. Allen in his. Mr. McClure has arranged the program which in its inclusion of "Old Gaelic Songs," "Old Scotch Songs," "Modern Scotch Songs," "Old Irish Songs," and three "Selling Water Ballads," presented a fascinating as well as musically worthy group of songs, which took account of old favorites and rarely heard musical treasures. The audience was most appreciative, and insisted upon some encore numbers in addition to the twenty-three songs on the program.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Jumbo

The sugar barons, the coal operators and the ice men belong to the same fraternity.

The "wish-you-were with us" post cards are beginning to trickle in, reminding one that the vacation season is again at hand.

On the Local Screen.

Two little flies in my office I see, I have killed one, and now there are three.

Seven little flies buzzing early and late, I have killed six, and now there are eight.

Eight little flies all impatient to dine, I have killed seven and now there are nine—million.

Genius is composed of equal parts of sweat, temperament and head-lines.

Political Notes.

The Ford boom is making quite a rattle.

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, senator-elect, says Governor Smith will be the next president. Guess the doc has got the wrong dope.

Now since the girls are wearing their dresses lower in the neck, we understand that there is to be a mass meeting of mosquitoes this evening, and hymns of praise and thanksgiving will be sung.

That chap who says there is waste motion in all human activities should watch a small boy with a cone of ice cream.

Woman's Invasion.

Now that bobbed hair is fashionable, barber shops have had to substitute the Ladies' Home Journal for the Police Gazette.

Self-Torture.

The weather was frightfully hot. But to see her you'd think it was not.

She had around her neck The remains of a wreck Of a coon skin her brother had shot.

Aren't men funny? They wear clothes that cover them from ankle bone to Adam's apple. They smoke—because they like it. They tie knots that will untie. They know what's trumps and why they played the joker. They wear B. V. D.'s and don't roll their socks. Aren't men funny? They're so different from women.

The reason we kick at times about the flowers at a funeral is that they're just about three days late in arriving.

We have no more right to consume good cheer without creating it than to consume wealth without producing it.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Krom of Kingston were guests in this village a couple of days last week.

A force of electric light men put up some of the wires for the new street lights last week. The work will not be completed on Cooper street and Yorktown avenue until the last of August.

Fred Davis frequently entertains his friends and neighbors with his radio.

Deputy Sheriff P. W. Wells was called to High Falls last Saturday evening by the collision of two automobiles at one of the street corners.

Larkin C. Garrett and Robert O. Garrett.

Larkin C. Garrett and Robert O. Garrett have begun a desperate fight in Cumberland court house, Va., for a change of venue in their trial on the charge of murdering the Rev. E. S. Pierce, a Baptist minister. The ablest legal talent in the state has been retained by both sides, and the case has attracted national attention. The dismissal of a priest school teacher on an alleged scandal charge, together with the Rev. Pierce's defense of her, led to the killing.

At Poughkeepsie—The Poughkeepsie Red Sox and Heintz Zimmerman's Bronx Giants divided a double header at Poughkeepsie on Sunday. The first game was won by the Red Sox after a twelve inning battle by a 5 to 4 score. The score was 3-3 at the end of the ninth inning. When the Red Sox came to bat in their half of the twelfth inning the Giants were ahead 4-3. However the Poughkeepsie club came through with two runs in their half of the twelfth, winning the game 5-4. In this game home run drives by Scherckard, Phelan and Zimmerman were the features. Wolfe was in the box for the Red Sox.

The Bronx Giants won the second game by a 6-5 score. The Red Sox staged a rally in the ninth inning of this game but fell one run short of tying up the score. McDermott did the hurling for the Poughkeepsie club.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES IN THE BIG LEAGUES

Adolfe Luque, who is not the worst pitcher in baseball, made a personal matter out of beating the Braves, 2 to 1, not only pitching fine ball but producing the winning run for the Reds with a triple in the eighth.

The Yanks and White Sox battled to an even break, the Sox winning the first, 3 to 2, and losing the second, 8 to 2, aided by the sensational work of Babe Ruth.

Two homers from the bat of Cy Williams, each coming with Sand on base, gave the Phillies a 6 to 2 decision over the Cardinals. Williams' smashes brought his total of home runs up to twenty-seven for the season.

The Giants made merry at the expense of the Kaufman, Dumovich and Fussell, and romped into a 15 to 3 victory over the Cubs.

The Senators came home on the hit against the Tigers, 11 to 1, Morgridge not only pitching a winning ball but socking a single, double and triple just to be nasty about it.

Origin of the Ring.

One of the earliest examples of the use of rings in statuary was in the statues of Prometheus, who, when released from bondage on the incarceration of Venus, wore a ring with a small piece of the Caucasus in it to show that he was still chained to the Caucasus. The idea of a ring being a sign of bondage has continued since those days. Bishops and doctors wore rings by right because they had signed away their independence in order to benefit mankind.

"CHAPPIE" GETS ANOTHER TRIMMING

Philadelphia Royal Stars Again Fail to Score a Win Over Colonials—See, Forsythe and McCallie Divide Mound Work With Rubie Working Six Innings—Fogarty, McCue and Coyle Do Good Work With the Stick—Score 8-3.

Some time ago "Chappie" Johnson was very much disgusted when his Philadelphia Royal Stars went down to a 1-0 defeat at the hands of the Colonials at the Fair Grounds. Since that time "Chappie" has stacked his team up against some of the best semi-pro teams in this section and he has sent a number of the first class ones down to defeat.

So back he came to this city on Sunday determined that he would give the local team a few lessons in baseball. To say the least "Chappie" and his team put up a great fight but the fight wasn't great enough to score a win over a team playing the kind of baseball that the Colonials were on Sunday.

The score was 8-3 and the Colonials obtained nine hits off the offerings of Pierce, who hurled them over for the Philadelphia team, while the Royal Stars obtained seven hits off the offerings of the Colonials' pitchers. However one error and a few wild pitches at just the wrong time spelled defeat for the visitors.

Coyle Back in Lineup.

To the great satisfaction of all the fans, Bobby Coyle's finger was in such shape that he was able to be back in the lineup again on Sunday. Bobby celebrated his return by making two hits, one a double, out of three times at bat and being responsible for eleven put outs.

Dahn Hurt.

Another man is now on the injured list of the Colonials, namely Freddie Dahn. In the fifth inning Freddie was unable to get away from one of Pierce's last balls and as a result he was hit in the chest with such force that he was knocked out for some time. Freddie did not go back into the game Sunday but it is not thought that his injury will prove serious.

Three Men Pitch for Colonials.

Three men did the pitching for the Colonials. "Chad" See pitched one inning but as he complained of a sore arm after this inning Forsythe was sent in. Rubie pitched excellent ball while he was in the box and allowed the visitors just five hits in six innings. Jack McCallie, from the last Dean, 3b., worked in the last two innings. Although the Stars touched Jack up quite a little during the first inning he was in the box this was probably due to the fact that he wasn't "warmed up."

Fogarty and McCue Hit Well.

Both Red Fogarty and McCue also had a good day at the bat. Red besides hitting one at the Packard sign made another hit giving him two out of four times at bat. Mac got two hits out of three times at bat.

Colonials Score in Second.

The Colonials scored their first two runs in the second inning. Two successive hits by McCue and Coyle and a wild throw by the visiting catcher to second base sent one run across the rubber and left Coyle on third base. Swat Russell got on first due to the wildness of the pitcher. On the next pitched ball Swat started for second. The catcher threw to second and while he was throwing Coyle came in home before the second sacker could relay it back to the plate.

One More in Third.

Fogarty's three bagger and a wild pitch gave the Colonials another tally in the third.

Three in Fifth.

Due to safe clouts, including a two bagger by Coyle which brought two runs in, the Colonials made three more runs in the fifth inning.

Last Two Come in Seventh.

In the seventh inning four singles by See, Fogarty, Schwab and McCue aided by Coyle's sacrifice rung up two more runs for the locals.

Stars Score in Eighth and Ninth.

The Stars made two runs in the eighth inning and one in the ninth.

Day of the Prophets Gonna.

As religion and poetry are both "power that makes," it seems well to think of them in association. The world of our troubled days stands so near of seers. It is therefore a tragedy that the prophetic seems to have fallen into abeyance. But it will not always be so, for I think that there is to be an "open vision" would be to betray terrible lack of faith.—Exchange.
